You'd think we might have learned from the problems that occurred

But it seems I'm truly wrong there
The war was useless but what did it teach us
You use violence and hatred again

They say it's just for a little influence
But I can see it's here for acceptance
They say it's all for the cause of our society
And they may think so but don't tell it to me

We have to do something that just doesn't feel alright
We have to use violence but not of a common kind
These Nazis around us keep acting as if they are blind
It's not an ordinary fight

Discriminating acts keep hunting through my brain
But I know we are all one and the same So what if there's a difference between the color of our skin
This doesn't mean we're living with a sin

But you keep telling me I'm blind
I think your brain's a bit behind
'Cause I can't believe it when you're telling me that I'm blind
I won't support an ordinary fight
