That everlasting flame of emotion
Lasts an eternity
A dark eternity
I am led to believe
This false sense of reality
I don't have to care
Maybe I should care less
I jump from this sinking ship
Will my soul be laid to rest?

The guilty conscience I bear
Through this fury of wind and rain
I have suffered an endless share of pain

It is the bane of my existence

As the sun rises again
The earth's everlasting candle
To bring hope to this darkness
And destroy the fury of mankind
And cancel the trepidation
This conflagration consumes thee
It is the fuel for the hearts of mankind
And pushes us further in the end
