Along the avenue of hope
The footsteps falter, the fingers grope and days, stretch out, beneath the sun No-one's born, and no-one dies, no-one lives, so no-one cries
and we wait to see just what we will become

Don't let me falter, don't let me ride
Don't let the earth in me subside
Let me see just who I will become

You're like the clouds in my home town
You just grow fat and hang around and you're days stretch out beneath the sun and you don't live, you don't die, you don't love so you don't cry

and we wait, to see just what we will become

Don't let me borrow, don't let me bring
Don't let me wallow, don't make me sing
Let me see just who I will become

Don't let me falter, don't let me hide
Don't let someone else decide
Just who or what I will become

Don't let them borrow, don't let them bring Don't let them wallow, don't make them sing

Along the avenue of hope
the footsteps falter, the fingers grope
& the days, stretch out, beneath the sun.
No-one's born, no-one dies, no-one loves, so no-one cries
& we wait to see just, what we will become

Don't let me falter, don't let me ride
Don't let the earth in me subside
Let me see just who I will become

You're like the clouds in my home town

You just grow fat & hang around & your days stretch out beneath the sun
& no-one's born, & no-one dies, no-one loves, so no-one
cries
& we wait to see just, what we will become

Don't let me wallow, don't make me sing
Let me see just, who I will become

Don't let me falter, don't let me hide
Don't let someone else decide
Just who or what, I will become

Don't make 'em borrow, don't make 'em bring Don't let them wallow, don't let them sing let them stretch out, beneath the sun.
