Keep your composure.
This is only a dream.
And when you wake up
You'll start to realize
That the world around you is dodging the same bullet
as you.
Keep still, keep breathing.
Don't stop believing in what you feel is right.
In what keeps you, keeps you alive tonight.

All we are
And all we need is the faith that is inside of us
And to know that we can see through this.
(Tonight the ground began to shake as we fell down to
our knees.
But we keep moving on.)

So we will follow behind each other
As far as we can go until we're left alone.
Whisper to ourselves just to let it all out
We were never even ready to sail the seven seas on our own, Oh no.
All we are
And all we need is the faith that is inside of us
And to know that we can see through this.
(Tonight the ground began to shake as we fell down to
our knees.
But we keep moving on.)

We all
We all gather
We all
We all gather around.
To watch this crumble beneath our feet
As we're stranded on the edges of our seats.

Hiding inside gray walls.
Waiting above it all.
Watching our future burn.
Knowing nowhere to turn

All we are

And all we need is the faith that is inside of us
And to know that we can see through this.
(Tonight the ground began to shake as we fell down to
our knees.
But we keep moving on.)
