I was listening to "Take This To Your Grave",
"So Long Astoria" and "Nothing Gold Can Stay"
You said I'm filling my head with nonsense
And I'm throwing my life away
It's nice to know you're here
I'm glad that you still care How the hell do you fix a problem that you were the cause of The songs we sang, the words we wrote And all the personal pain for them coming out my throat

I'm used to being bloody, broken down and beaten
I can show you all the scars that you've been leaving It's plain to see there's nothing left between you and me
Useless memories
You're so wrong

Remember the time you told me good things come to those who wait?
You were wrong
And I'm still trying to let you know how much this sucks, it makes me sick

So finally I'm starting to see how little you think of me
and it hurts
Couldn't care less but it couldn't be worse

I'm used to being bloody, broken down and beaten
I can show you all the scars that you've been leaving It's plain to see there's nothing left between you and
me
Useless memories
You're so wrong

You know you're so wrong
You know you're so wrong
You know you're so wrong
It makes me sick

[X2]

So finally I'm starting to see how little you think of me
and it hurts
Couldn't care less but it couldn't be worse

I'm used to being bloody, broken down and beaten
I can show you all the scars that you've been leaving It's plain to see there's nothing left between you and
me
Useless memories
You're so wrong
