Wake under the sheets
The morning took the sun
So you forget to wait but they sent you flowers to forget your lies and make it up to you but I woke up and knew.

Its all about being scared,
Life can only give you so much before you have to learn on your own
it's most important to me that no-one trust anything

And you wake under the sheets the morning
took the sun so you forget to wait but they sent you flowers to forget your lies and make it up to you

but I woke up and knew.

Its all about being scared,
Sometimes I trace the lines but you taught me everything,
It's most important to me that no-one trust anything
and wait

Everyone's asleep

And you wake under the sheets the morning
took the sun so you forget to wait but they sent you
flowers to forget your lies and make it up to you
but I woke up and knew.

So wake up and know your gone, your alone
