I'll take my stand and ask you all to fight
To come together as one, before they take our rights
You should have known from the start
That some day they'd try
And I told you before
You're all living a lie

Knowing the truth is like a different dimension
There's no going back once you see the lies
I don't know about you
I will rise, I will rise, I will rise

This is our time, rise up
Stand your ground
We can conquer the king of the world

Take the time to open up your weary eyes
Are blind to all things around us
This is our time, this our time
To set things right
Get on your feet before it's too late, too late

And tell everyone I know
Sir can you please spare some change
For me in this world today
Where people fear the very power that's given to them
You should have known from the start
That some day we'd try
I tried to tell you before
You're all living a lie

Knowing the truth is like a different dimension
There's no turning back once you hear the lies
I don't know about you
I will rise, I will rise, I will rise

Take the time to open up your weary eyes
Are blind to all things around us
This is our time, this our time
To set things right
Get on your feet before it's too late, too late
This is our time, this our time to set things right

Allow me your undivided attention
Let us bring you to the next dimension

I am the alpha omega sent to expose your lies
I am your God now
We'll bring the end to them all
We can conquer the king of the world
