What do you want
What do you want
When the world is so big and yet so small at the same time
What do you want
What do you want
When the world is so big and yet so small at the same
time
What can i do for you that has everything
I can only love you
I can only love you
When the days have passed
And the night has begun
As the stars start to fall from the sky
I can only love you
As the sun and the rain come together to create a rainbow
I can only love you
