Come on, girl, we're gonna ride
Down where the rimrock meets the night,
We'll go hand in hand, ridin'
through the purple starlight,
and the coyote on the wind
Sends his lonely lovers' call,
We'll hold each other close,
In the wonder of it all.

The golden west has come and gone
Right before our very eyes,
But they will never count the stars
And they will never fence the skies,
All I know is I love you
And I won't let you fall
We're rollin' down the milky way
Into the wonder of it all.

Life gets harder every day,
And sometimes it seems
The dream almost dies,
But love will find a way,
It will show us the way
Through the canyons of the stars
And the endless midnight sky,

Come on, girl we're gonna ride,
Down where the rimrock meets the night,
We'll go hand in hand, ridin'
through the purple starlight,
And the coyote on the wind
Sends his lonely lovers' call,
We'll hold each other close,
In the wonder of it all.

We'll hold each other close,
In the wonder... of it all...
