I been lost and all alone
Like a statue made of stone
But now I'm coming home

I fell for a painted face
Thought I'd fallen out of grace
But now I'm coming home

I'm coming home
Holm me to your breast
Let me stay and rest
In your tenderness

I'm coming home
Back where I belong
Still you're love is strong
Roll away the stone
I'm coming home

I said my prayers, made my plans
Set out for the promised land
And now I'm coming home

I saw how you pay the price
For some distant paradise
And now I'm coming home

I'm coming home
Holm me to your breast
Let me stay and rest
In your tenderness

I'm coming home
Back where I belong
Still you're love is strong
Roll away the stone
I'm coming home
