oh, I, I had the strangest dream and they made a deal and they drew the line and they built a wall right across the town we ran, but we could not hide we were fifty years marching round and round we were fifty years when the wall came down anything is possible in this world

where they wasted days on the borderline and they saw themselves living underground and they ran, but they could not hide they cut the rocks and they laid the stone they made themselves a tower, here in Babylon anything is possible in this world

hey yeah, I never could explain we're all playing a game we could never win hey yeah, I'll never understand we just wander all over the same old ground

oh, I, I had the strangest dream and you shook your head and you looked at me and said 'open your eyes and maybe you will see...'
anything is possible in this world

Anythin-oooh!
give up
