I've been looking for my next mistake,
In every other little chance I take.
I've left my mark, everywhere I've been.
I think it's time for me to come back down,
I think it's time for me to stand my ground.
I don't know where I should begin.

I hope it's not too late.

Save me, cause I still believe,
There's something in me, worth saving
Save me, from this disease,
That's feeding on the better part of me.
Save me.

Is there a reason why I'm still here?
Nobody ever seemed to make it clear.
I've been waiting here for so damn long.
I just need you to show me now,
If there was ever really any way out.
I've been ticking like a time bomb,
Every move I made was wrong.

I hope it's not too late.

Save me, cause I still believe,
There's something in me, worth saving
Save me, from this disease,
That's feeding on the better part of me.

There's still time for redemption
There's still time for redemption
Yeah, I still believe
There's still time for redemption
There's still time for redemption
Yeah I still believe
There's still time for redemption
There's still time for redemption
Yeah I still believe
There's still time for redemption
There's still time for redemption
Yeah I still believe

Save me, cause I still believe,
There's something in me, worth saving
Save me, from this disease,
That's feeding on the better part of me.
Save me, from this disease,
That's feeding on the better part of me.
Save me
