"A Cry For You"

Earth and sky, near and so far

I am searching for you desperately

Hundred-thousand moments I'm dreaming away

You're the dawn for me

I don't care how much longer

There's a few more steps I have to go

You know me for so long and see me as you child

I am your prodigal son way back home

Now I know, the only place called home is you

I give you everything, deep in your soul it's my life

Earth cries out for you and all the hearts inside of you

Another dawn is rising and the tears fade away

See the shining light and all the answers in those rays

Earth cries out for you and all the hearts inside of you

So hear the call, fade away into the blue
