

Idle Sons

"Rusty"

Visit "Rusty" on MotoLyrics.com

You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step, and every page
You look worn out, more and more each day

Your croft, dated back to the beginning of the century
With every step, and every page
Inside your croft, dated back to the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century

It's the beginning of the century
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
What are you looking for? You'll never get close,
What you're about

You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
You look worn out, more and more each day
With every step and every page
And you're still worn out, more and more each day

There's every way to.....
Your croft, dated back to the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
It's the beginning of the century
Inside your croft, dated back to the beginning of the century

What are you looking for? You'll never get close
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about

What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you're not original
What are you looking for? You'll never get close
You definitely don't know, you definitely don't know
What you're about

