My heart beats
Like a jet fighter pilot's
Whenever
You flicker your eyelids
'Cause a whole life can change in four words or less
And, a lifetime can feel complete in roughly one kiss

So, if you've got something good, better hold onto it
If you've got something good, hold the fuck onto it
'Cause I'll hold your hands on these city sidewalks
And, I'll hold my breath until you decide to talk

Like a coke dealer
I'm selling my lines to you
And, you buy it because I do it like I do
But, move quickly time burns like the wick of dynamite

And, you're the devastating explosion I need in this life

So, if you've found something good, better hold onto it
If you've got something good, then just hold onto it
'Cause I'll hold your hands on these city sidewalks
And, I'll hold my breath till you decide to talk

'Cause I am losing my head against a coach class window
Can words in your headphones be enough when I'm not there to see you?
If you need to, then cry, my shoulder's absorbent
Just look to the black and white's we'll hang of the good times

So, if you've found something good, then just hold onto it
If you've got something good, hold the fuck onto it
'Cause I'll hold your hands on these city sidewalks
And, I'll hold my breath till you decide to talk.
