What can I say? What can I say?
Hold onto this hand, I'm trying
As this fuchsia sun is setting on euphoria, I shatter
And I drive around town, I miss her

What can I say? What can I say?
She says, "You look pale, do you feel okay?"
Feels like forever since last May
The day can't hold my heart, it's swelling
And my words can't hold thoughts, no telling

It's just one more day in here hiding from the world
And confiding in tears streaming straight out of your eyes
And as you're wiping those mascara lines
I feel distant and plagued with visions of you
And I trapped in this desolence

And life just won't wait
And life won't wait on us
What can I say? What can I say?
What can I say? This damn world won't wait
