Still when I was crying, you were on my side
Ooh, Angel, you can come and see me here tonight Ooh, Angel, of course you're always more than welcome here
Still I'm needing somebody else again

Still another face, brightens up my place
There is nothing much I want to do about it
The way I fall without you, the way I'm dull without you
I split my score, offer your love

Everybody ought to be an Angel

Still when I was crying, you were on my side
Ooh, Angel, I never thought that I'd be free or clear
Ooh, Angel, except for you, I doubt that I'd be here
Still I'm needing somebody else again
I'm needing somebody else again
