A whisper so clear
A light that won't shine
No words can explain
No need to remind me

Looking for clues
No road here to fail
I'm guided by stars
But lost on the trail

I came down on hope
Fell right into fire
First thought it a joke
Now seems you're a liar
To have and to hold
As I thought I should know something

If that's what will be
Your put to the test
To find your way home
No need to remind you

So cover your eyes
Don't shed all those tears
So long now today
Goodbye to all fears

I came down on hope
Fell right into fire
First thought it a a joke
Now seems you're a liar
To have and to hold
As I thought I should know something

As I thought I should know something (4)

I came down on hope
Fell right into fire
First thought it a joke
Now seems you're a liar
To have and to hold

As I thought I should know something (2)
