Things have changed so much
Nothing's left the same
Here in this darkened room
Calling out your name

I see your eyes
I live it everyday
Left with your memory
I pray and pray and pray

As I look into the darkness
I turn and walk away
And things don't seem the same
As I look into the darkness
I turn and walk away
Though will you call my name

What was once my life
Ended long ago
What now shall I do
This curse you put me through

Calling for God's grace

As I look into the darkness
I turn and walk away
And things don't seem the same
As I look into the darkness
I turn and walk away
Though will you call my name (2)
