Can you see the mask on my face?
Can you see the flames behind my eyes?
Can you see the vision of dying realms?
Can you see the mayhem inside?

Can you hear the voices inside me?
Can you hear the laughter that faded?
Can you hear the whispers from the past?
Can you hear the cry of mankind?

Lost my control of emotions
Burying it all six feet under
Stepped away from the sanity
Torn apart from all that meant something
Darkness falls through my soul
Through my veins of woe
Life runs like sand through my fingers
Through my fist of rage

Rage, hatred strenghtens me
Bringer of sorrow walks beside me
Destruction, mourning drowns my thoughts
The last hope of survival fades away
There's no harmony in my world
No place for peace or tranquil dreams
Love is dead, mutilated by fate
All I see is fire on the horizon
