She makes a choice, and guilt overcomes her heart.
And like so many tears she falls. In her eyes, and the reason it went wrong, all along, and like every time I'm blamed. Do what you want (redefine myself without you). Do what you want (redefine myself without you).
Do what you want (redefine myself without you). Do what you want (redefine myself without you). I hope you hear this song and I, I hope you understand cause I, I still go on. I know you understand and I, I know you all too well and I, I still go on. Do what you want (redefine myself without you). Do what you want (redefine myself without you). Do what you want (redefine myself
without you).
