it seems to me that lately, life has been too much work.
punctuated by time spent with friends. it's not enough.
i'm drinking by myself tonight, and that's alright. because i know that. friends like these, we don't need a reason. to stay out late. times like these, you're all i need. to know that i'm all right. no need to say what we know is true. i'm alright, so here's to you. it's friday night and i'm out with all of you. until the end. i'd rather be no place else. sleep can wait one more day. i'm thinking all this to myself. and i'm alright, because i know
