Just so you know, well here we go. And I, see you out there in the distance, growing smaller with each passing day and I, see you out there in the distance, waving my arms the entire way. And I, I don't know when you'll be back again, 'cause I am so sad and lonely, and I am all alone. I am so sad and lonely, and I am all alone. So you say you're three months gone, much too long for me to wait but I can and I will because I promised you, and I promised you I'd, cause I've done this. I see you out there in the distance, growing smaller with each passing day. I see you out there in the distance, waving my arms the entire way. I don't know when you'll be back again, 'cause I am so sad and lonely, and I am all alone. I am so sad and lonely, and I am all alone.
