This is where we are. This is why we come here, always calling out your name. Stinging in my eye, listen how it hurts to hear your voice. I've fallen, deeper in this void, falling ever closer to this self constructed hope. Only if I knew exactly where to turn, let my fire burn out slowly. God help me, god help me, god help me, I've fallen farther that you know. And I cant help to stop this blood flow. And you could be my tourniquet, and I wont lie to you anymore. I wont lie. I wont lie. I wont lie. Just tell me where to start. I've said before I'm lost but you never came to the light of day. I don't want to be the one questioning your faith any more than you want me to curse your name. But I am full of shame, and my cross you bear and says name so show me some sympathy and shine down on me and my heart. Lift my heart so I can smile once again. God help me, god help me, god help me, I've fallen farther that you know. and I cant help to stop this blood flow. And I wont lie to you anymore. anymore. And I wont lie to you anymore. Anymore. I wont lie to you anymore.
