I've known you for quite awhile.
Never ashamed to tell you what's on my mind,
Whether it's wrong or right.
When I feel like salting the ocean
You're fresh water for my eyes.

You give me this
You give me that
And this kiss is getting wild
And just maybe, just maybe.

When I get to my room
I'm still drowning from your stare
How could I now sleep
When love is in my hair?

Set aside some time to be with you tomorrow
Set aside some time to repeat what happened tonight.

Whenever I carry jars of regret
I stumble over and over again
The slip breaks me
And that kills your heart
When you feel like falling apart
I'd come running to catch you.

You give me this
You give me that
And this kiss is getting wild
And just maybe, just maybe.

When I get to my room
I'm still drowning from your stare
How could I now sleep
When love is in my hair?

Set aside some time to be with you tomorrow
Set aside some time to repeat what happened tonight.

Oh you give me so much hope
All the stars have agreed
Let my dreams somersault

Paint your rainbows here.
