Make a move, and so it has begun
I'm waiting here for you, for every child you preyed upon
But how could we have known, behind the cross you wear...
Lies something more?

I am what you created - the boy that's still alive
And I am taking back everything and everyone tonight

Delivered us from evil, but every day you wanted more and more Forsaking God to lead us into a place where we did not belong

I am what you created - the boy that's still alive
And I am taking back everything and everyone tonight

Is this a pale new costume?
Am I the one that let you down?

I am what you created - the boy that's still alive
And I am taking back everything and everyone tonight
