If I was wrong to lose you,
Then why did you let go?
Every line in the book you read,
Played out in soft echoes

This could be what I want
If I could hold you down, just waiting for you
We should be life or death - if I could hold you down
Hold you down

I'll break the world just to bring you back,
You never should have died
This is where you buried her,
You buried me that night

This could be what I want
If I could hold you down, just waiting for you
We should be life or death - if I could hold you down
We never reached the end and in a landslide i will bury my heart
This could be what I want - if I could hold you down
Hold you down

I want to run away
I'll make it here
This is what I expected

I want to run away
I'll make it here
This is what I expected
This is what I expected

Did you break in her room and carry her away?
Hold the knife to her eye and tell her just what to say?
Make her body a tomb?
We found it in the lake
Now I'm coming for you, to take your life away
