I'm a ghost, I'm a whisper baby...
Getting louder everytime you close your eyes...
And I'm coming home tonight...
I know your hearts beating faster,
You're alone but you can feel me in the room...
And I can almost feel you too...

Open your eyes,
I know you're scared right now...
As suspicions arise,
Why don't you look... find out...
As I reach out to you from your beds end...

Think of this house like a channel...
If you erase the years,
In our minds in which I've left,
We can relive the time we spent...
We fear our life more than the death that ends it...
I'm stuck in a life between the two
I won't leave until you do...

Open your mind...
I think you're with me now,
As attention unwinds...
And all your fear burns out,
I'll play this down,
Until I know you feel it...

And when you're lying there alone,
We're not afraid of what we know,
More what we don't...
But when you find yourself alone,
We're not afraid of what we know...
More what we don't...

Open your eyes,
I know you're scared right now...
As suspicions arise,
Why don't you look... find out...
As I reach out to you from your beds end...

And when you're lying there alone,

We're not afraid of what we know,
More what we don't...
But when you find yourself alone,
We're not afraid of what we know...
More what we don't...

I'm here, I'll catch you when you fall...
So just let go...
I'm here, I'll catch you when you fall...
Please, just let go...
