It's hard to believe
You could be such a disease
I no longer separate what's real
Hope that fate will find me safe

All my reflections laugh at me
You made me hide my name
It just feels bad to say
That there will be another day

What you wanted was impossible to define
The words I hear are of scrambled letters
Guess it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright

What you wanted is a mystery to me
The words I hear are of scrambled letters
Guess it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright

Building a room with no doors
Is this the last of me?
Wring the rag for the last few drops
Falling into infinity

What you wanted was impossible to define
The words I hear are of scrambled letters
Guess, it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright

What you wanted is a mystery to me
The words I hear are of scrambled letters
Guess it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright

What you wanted was impossible to define
The words I hear are of scrambled letters
Guess it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright

What you wanted is a mystery to me
The words I hear are of scrambled letters

Guess it's been there for years
Never let me know, I was alright
