i'm getting lost in your eyes deep like the ocean you're the anchor on my leg as i drown in you i need a word, sometimes smile, i need something, something to divert my mind away from this addiction running through my veins well, where's all this room you said you'd give me so I catch up running through my veins lost in, lost in your arms, i am safe lost in your arms,lost in your arms, lost in your arms lost in your arms,lost in your arms once leaving me room to breathe leave me room for breath, well im safe now robbing me of any hope inside, but that's ok, yeah i'd rather die in your arms than alone on my bedroom floor im gettin lost in your arms deep like the ocean your the anchor on my leg as i drown in you i need a word, and a smile i need something like you run away through my veins with your addiction, run away.
