

In Remembrance "Goin Nowhere"

Visit "Goin Nowhere" on MotoLyrics.com

I need to redirect my train of thought because this track is leading nowhere fast. Can I survive one night without a thought of you? I need to leave the past behind me and build my life back piece by piece. Becoming someone I never thought I'd be. Stranded at a loss for words. I'll never let you get the best of me so now you're on your own. We've been cut short and our connection lost. And I'm not sure I want it back. All my daily trivialities. I spit but still taste nothing but my own disdain. After all this pain I don't want you back. You lead me nowhere fast, I don't want you back. So far you lead me nowhere fast. My needs mistaken for insecurities, this one way mind has gotten me nowhere. It's just so hard to remember who I used to be. The man I know that I could never be again. Just leave the past behind

Visit In Remembrance page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.