The hunters sensing innocence
My trail of blood they've found
Leading to the fallen angel
I'm crying on the ground
My wings crushed into pieces
They spread across the land
And longing for the splinters
I painfully cut my hand

Like a scarlet lover
My blood kisses the snow
The hunters are crawling closer
My tears like rivers flow
A cold black rain is pouring
On my naked skin
The hunter's lips have touched me
They've poisoned me with sin

Just send a sign

Reaching out for saviours
I drown in a dark embrace
They drink my blood of beauty
While claws caress my face
The realm of pain is rising
I hold my breath and pray
While falling into shadows
My senses fade away

Whispering lies of healing
To give me all I need
While left alone in darkness
Towards death I slowly bleed
Forever lost my kingdom
A tear is my last kiss
I know, a fallen angel
At home they never miss
