It scares me that you remind me of myself
Careless and clueless
Every morning it's the same old sunrise
And every day you're beginning to to realize
That I'm becoming everything you hate

Woah, hold on a minute baby
You can't expect to change me
Cause I don't know if this is who I am
Everybody wants to make a big mess of all this
And I wont let this go
It gives me hope

It feels like I've been away for far too long
But if you ask me it wasn't long enough
Decisions are easy when you're all alone
I'd like to come home but I'm not sure that I know where to go

Woah, hold on a minute baby
You can't expect to change me
Cause I don't know if this is who I am
Everybody wants to make a big mess of all this
And I wont let this go
It gives me hope

It scares me that you remind me of myself
Careless and clueless
Every morning it's the same old sunrise
And every day you're beginning to to realize
That I'm becoming everything you hate

It gives me hope to see you wondering
If everything will be alright
Everybody wants to make a big mess of all this
And I wont let this go
It gives me hope
