You've underestimated my source of reasoning
But it seems that you've decided to show your true colors

But you've never been alone so how can I trust you
And you've never been alone this song is my comfort zone

Well it seems that you've decided to show me yourself
But this un-dead paranoia is driving me down

And you've never been alone this song is my comfort
zone

If I'm alone, there's nothing you can do
If I'm alone, wont change a thing
How I fell about this today
If I'm alone, I don't know

I can't begin to express my loneliness
All those times we were together
Was it something that I said
That got into your head

But you've never been alone so how can I trust you
You wont let me forget the past
And you've never been alone this song is my comfort
zone
