(...And All This From Which Was And Will Never Come Again...)

Come with me, yes let us make our journey
Tread over the treshold to enter this world
Far beyond humanity
And if you live to see
-all this and much more-
Will become a part of your earthly being Bathe yourself in these forgotten shadows from the past
And at the last stairs of your infinite search you will experience this ultimate knowledge

It's so strange, and yet so simple Written on a piece of paper aeons ago
And in years to come,
I will be someone else
But still the same ever changing

This burden will always be present, leaving stains of pride within your mind
A pride you will bare of your shoulders until death... do you... part

The entirety I am yearning, I urge for Where sense is
I passed it a thousand times, left it all behind
In search for more Like children wandering childhoods meadows
Evolving stronger and still Behaving like fools
For the sun shall shine upon you
Child of universal Tounge

Conceive this fact as real and join this humble presence Take part
Join this humble presence of mine

When you then become a part and have gained all imaginable knowledge, it will become like a heavy chain around your neck
