"Dying Star"

I was never good enough
I listened to their lies
I crucified myself
I always, but now I realize
That I'm the only one
Who can mend my ways
How did I come so far
My everlasting flame, my dying star
I was my own worst enemy
I was blinded by my shame
A hopeless masquerade
Never ending
The guilty down inside
Was a blessing in disguise to mend my ways
How did I come so far
My everlasting flame, my dying star
I can mend my ways
Now, I'm flying, hanging on the wind
Following the night
And ride
Leave gravity behind
Following the light
Finally I can breathe
I
I bury all my doubts
I've learned to live without
The fear of endless scars
In this star
I can mend my ways
How did I come so far
My everlasting flame, my dying star
I can mend my ways
How did I come so far
My everlasting flame, my dying star
My dying star
