Life has just begun
And you have nowhere to run
You never know what you've done
They say you had so much fun

Falling when you walk
So hard to hear when you talk
You never know what to say
Oh, it's the same everyday

Days are passing by
Still you live your lie
Drinking more and more
Drowning through the floor

Stumbling through the door
As you are begging for more
You don't know how to be strong
You don't know why you are wrong

Days are passing by
Still you live your lie
Drinking more and more
Drowning through the floor
