I have a ship both sleek and fine
Sleek and fine
I point her bows wherever I will
The Seven Seas they all are mine

I call the winds
(I call the winds)
I call the winds
(I call the winds)
I call the winds, her sails to fill

If you will flee away with me
Flee away with me
And bid farewell to the land you know
I'll show you marvels presently

And wonders
(And wonders)
And wonders
(And wonders)
And wonders that the earth does show

The shouting mountains
(Oh, speak on sir)
The diamond valleys
(Oh, speak on sir)
The caves where sleep the stars by day

Eve's clouded bower
(Oh, speak on sir)
Adam's garden
(Oh, speak on sir)
The secret land that love does see

Oh, come with me
(Oh, come with me)
Oh, come with me
(Oh, come with me)
I will come with thee

The gentle spring rains will lave your face
(Oh, sweet waters)

The winds will bear your train
The morning birds will sing your song
The earth will call your name

The stars will be your canopy
The sun your candle flame
The greeny-gold wheat your incense sweet
My heart your windowpane

Oh, come with me
(Oh, come with me)
Oh, come with me
(Oh, come with me)
I will come with thee
