Every day is another nail in your coffin sealed inside and forgetting all light take as much as you can -shove it down and coke on the best years of your life this is life - so welcome to it this is life - it's the way it is this is life - so get used to it this is life - it doesn't get any better than this sacrifice every part of yourself and each day you will never get back and no matter how much you give they will still take it - take it all away take it - take it all away you will never survive this life you gave too much of yourself away you can't survive this life - you're dead you've sealed yourself away sealed away from the rest of the world
