"Never Again"

swallowed again
I fell in too deep
I reach out my hand only to fall witness to my shadows blood these eyes have never betrayed next time I'll know better this wrong will make me right this wrong will make you right
I burn these memories your tears feed the fire my veins flood with regret I can see right through you I was so blind - never again a bleed like a leech because I was so attached obsessed, a parasite to your promises you broke me in two because I wouldn't bend

I held on too tight lost my grasp in the end - (you were never there) here I am where you promised that I'd never be The vacancy of my soul- tearing itself never say goodbye!
Never again
I was so blind
