[Verse 1]

Hanging there for all to see
You gave up everything for me
They pierced Your side, You hung Your head
You took the pain for me instead
With wounded hands, and wounded feet
You gave me life abundantly
You saw beyond what they could see
You died that I might be free

[Verse 2]

You shed your blood with agony
Sustained for all eternity
The cross You held, the pain You felt
Was to be unparalleled
Across Your back, the stripes You bore
You healed my heart like none before
You saw beyond what they could see
You died that I might be free

[Chorus]

That I might be free, You suffered the cross
The sacrifice You made, gave life for all today
That I might be free, You laid down Your life
You paid the price for me and all humanity
Yeah

[Bridge]

Three days You rose again, tore the veil end to end
Defeated death when You rolled that stone away
Came back with victory, walking triumphantly
You died and rose again for me
