I found a way away... and sailed beyond the waves of pain
No Jonah in my sea, no whale to hide inside these days
I've lost my sky
Feels I was born just to die here
Born in a dry well
Lie here till one day I'm swallowed by time.

Stars no longer shine, faith has left us far behind
We have no more signs, and all our seers are blind
Lost in the night,

Once love was with me but I left
The sea turned violent
We crucify all the lights we can find.

Born to be silent
Bored and misguided
We simplify all the mystery of life

But sometimes hearts begin to stir
And in my head a notion whirls
As all I know becomes a blur
My words fill my world
