Lullaby (Mountain) by The Acorn

I, I will wash over you

I know your heart is true

Little Mountain of mine

â€˜Cause the sun set down on me

You turn your head and slowly start to breathe

Like the common bonds on carbon, buried deep lâ€™m the shadow of the long forgotten dream

But I, I will wash over you

I know your heart is true

Little mountain of mine

But every word I wrote left incomplete

And the promises I never got to keep

Though you toes grow colder as you sleep

The blood runs through your heart with every beat â€˜Cause I, I will wash over you

I know your heart is true

Little Mountain of mine

I, I will wash over you

I know your heart is true

Little Mountain of mine
