

Indigo Girls

"I Believe In Love"

Visit "I Believe In Love" on MotoLyrics.com

When we tried to rework all of this
Each to her rendition
We painted ourselves in a corner
Lost for ideas, blindly fishing

For a compliment or kindness
Just to bring us into view
But you could not interpret me
And I could not interpret you

I remember that cold morning
When the trees were black with birds
I tried to make out some connection
We were at a loss for words

After all that we've been through
I could not see giving up
Despite the picture of our coffee
Growing colder in the cups

I want to say that underneath it all
You are my friend
And the way that I fell for you
I'll never fall that way again

I still believe despite our differences
That what we have's enough
And I believe in you
And I believe in love

So we went rolling on down through the years
Taking time off we could steal
Until the thief of things unreconciled
Stuck a stick into the wheel

And now we're tumbling in a free fall
No one's gonna go unscathed
But it's not because you held back
And its not how I behaved

I want to say that underneath it all
You are my friend

And the way that I fell for ya
I'll never fall that way again
(I will never fall that way again)

I still believe despite our differences
That what we have's enough
I believe in you
And I believe in love

There are avenues and supplements and books stacked on the shelf
Labyrinths of recovery in search of our best self
But most of what will happen now is way out of our hands
So just let it go, see where it lands

I want to say that underneath it all
You are my friend
And the way that I fell for you
I'll never fall that way again
(I will never fall that way again)

I still believe despite our differences
That what we have's enough
And I believe in you
And I believe in love

I believe in you
And I believe in love

Visit Indigo Girls page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.