Religion - a replacement for common sense

Devote your life to the grand illusion

Don't come here looking for unity

All you'll find is submission

Realize - the skies are empty

Realize - there's nothing there

Realize - it all has to end

Realize - your truth is a lie

Where will you turn when utopia crumbles?

When there's no bright light in the end?

What will you do when it all comes crashing?

And the illusion caves in from above
