She painst a smile oh for the world to see. but no one knows the pain that she feels inside. and everyday she cries, oh and she wonders why she's fought so hard to survive. And the guilt she feels inside. Oh it's eating her alive. She reaches for the pills because you see, her hope is gone.

Keep hanging on and on and on. Though you feel your hope is gone, no. Though you feel your life is hangin' by a thread. hang on and on and on i said. Keep hangin' on and on and on. Though you feel your hope is gone no, My God will give you the reason to live. Again and again and again, hang on.

And everyday, he hears these voices say "You're good for nothin' boy, You've messed up too much anyway". So he tries to find an escape from the memories that plague his mind. But he feels like he's drowning He can't go on another day. He's tired of running, he feels all alone. Distorted and twisted. That's what his world's become. He reaches for the gun because you see, His hope is gone.

Keep hanging on and on and on. Though you feel your hope is gone, no. Though you feel your life is hanging by a thread. Hang on and on and on i said. Keep hanging on and on and on. Though you feel your hope is gone, no. My God will give you the reason to live again and again and again, hang on.
