

Butterfly Boucher

"The Cell"

Visit "The Cell" on MotoLyrics.com

I've decided now on every thing for everyone
I have judged the terms who is touched and who is harmed
I remember well the nails that slide across my face
I am left alone and still remains the bitter taste of you Know why I did everything for You know why I'd do anything at all

I have crucified the pretty one without a name
These injustice scales test my weight and lay the blame
I remember well the milk that sours within my mouth
You have shut me down locked me in and never let me

Out of here I'd do anything to disappear I'd do anything at all for
You know why I'd do everything

I have nothing here the darkness shrouds a world of pain
Only voices heard tormented sounds and whispered names
I remember well the misery the twist of fate Still the pendulum will swing for me it's a little late for you

(c) 2001 The Butterfly Effect

Visit Butterfly Boucher page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.