Derangement
Progressive dementia, torture in the cruelest of forms
Man without a mind is a man no more
Fading into emptiness
Personality traits are decaying away
Psychological distress manifests as memory fails
Soul extraction
Neurological degeneration, delusions
Disease pathology tangled brain tissue
Brain lesions
Episodic flashes, all that's left of a life once known Wandering, confusion, apathy
Final place to die, it's your room-you've never seen before
Many crying faces not one of them do you recognise
You don't wonder why, loss of cognitive ability
You will die helpless, not knowing who you are
