Man consumed by pleasure
A body ravaged by poison
The love for the dream is gone
His mother laid to rest with his life

Loud voices in the distance
A life too short to call it full

This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now
This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now

His voice still heard so loudly
And in my heart he will stay
Loud voices in the distance
A life too short to call it full

This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now
This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now

But God, did this hurt the ones he loved the most?
God, did this hurt the ones he loved the most?

This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now
This won't be enough for me
And I am hurting all together now

This won't be enough
This won't be enough
