You said you wanted life, you died on me
You said you wanted truth, you lied to me
You said you wanted health, you're sick again
You said you wanted me, then bedded men

You and your Catholic taste
I think it's such a waste
Why don't you concentrate
And choose what you want before it's too late

You said your god has born and died for you
You wear a crucifix and pentagram too
You've tried so many drugs, your spirit's pure
You're wilder than the wind, yet so demure

You said you've royal blood and common touch
Your roots are working class but don't show much
You hang out with the boys, the girls love you
You love expensive toys, you're spiritual too

You're living other lives, ain't yours enough?
You're someone I despise - you try too much
You talk and talk for hours - I turn to dust
You're losing all your powers - you turn to rust

You and your Catholic taste
I think it's such a waste
Why don't you concentrate
And choose what you want before it's too late

You and your Catholic taste
I think it's such a waste
Why don't you concentrate
And choose what you want before it's too late

You.. It's all about you
It's all about you and your Catholic taste
It's all about you
It's all about you baby yeah
It's all about you you you you you you
You and your Catholic taste

You, It's all about you,
You and your Catholic taste
It's all about you you you you you you
You and your Catholic taste
You
I think it's such a waste
